

29.11.

GÄTTEN MÖRDER INNEN

GESCHICHTEN VOM ÜBERLEBEN

08.12.24.

GATTEN MÖRDER INNEN

GESCHICHTEN VOM ÜBERLEBEN

The exhibition „Gattenmörderinnen: Geschichten vom Überleben“ (Wives That Killed: Stories of Survival) sheds light on the compelling stories of six women from Romania and Moldova who, after suffering years of domestic violence, killed their husbands in acts of desperation. Their stories reveal a desperate struggle for survival and the path to a new life.

„AN UNTAMED WOMAN IS LIKE AN UNTENDED HOUSE.“

This old saying from Romania and Moldova highlights a harsh reality: violence against wives and women is not only trivialized but often normalized by society. The two countries share not only history, language, and culture but also deeply rooted patriarchal structures. A closer look reveals a disturbing commonality: a significant proportion of women imprisoned for murder have killed their husbands.

AN EXHIBITION ABOUT SURVIVORS OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

This project, initiated by Romanian-born Ioana Pascaru, is the result of extensive research. With empathy and persistence, Pascaru uncovered these women's stories, established connections, conducted personal interviews, and crafted a journalistic portrayal of their fates. Together with photographers Miguel Hahn and Jan-Christoph Hartung (Hahn+Hartung), known for their documentary reporting on absurd and tragic societal developments, they captured intimate insights into the lives of six women. These women symbolize countless others with similar stories. The exhibition presents powerful portraits that document the pain, resilience, and journey of these women into a new life, a life after the murder of their tormentors and the years spent in prison. The photos are accompanied by video interviews that let the women's voices be heard.

GUILT SHOULD NOT SWITCH SIDES

The exhibition „Gattenmörderinnen: Geschichten vom Überleben“ (Wives That Killed: Stories of Survival) invites us to see these protagonists not as murderers but as survivors. It raises questions of justice and social responsibility, encouraging reflection on combating violence against women and resisting patriarchal structures.

The exhibition is made possible through the generous support of Art Kombinat e.V.

ORIGINAL TITLE:

Gattenmörderinnen: Geschichten vom Überleben

ENGLISH TITLE:

Wives That Killed: Stories of Survival

EXHIBITION:

29 November - 8 December 2024

PRESS TOUR:

28 November 2024, 2pm

VERNISSAGE:

28 November 2024, 7pm

OPENING HOURS:

Daily, 12pm-8pm

EXHIBITION VENUE:

Projektraum
Am Flutgraben 3
12435 Berlin

ADMISSION:

Free

SPONSORED BY:

Art Kombinat e.V.

PRESS CONTACT:

mail@hahn-hartung.com

CURATORS:

Ioana Pascaru, Miguel Hahn und Jan-Christoph Hartung

EXHIBITION PROGRAMME:

A panel discussion on Saturday, November 30. Time: tba
Guided tours are available upon request.

CONTACT

Ioana Pascaru
Miguel Hahn
Jan-Christoph Hartung
mail@hahn-hartung.com
+49 160 979 683 90

Miguel Hahn (b. 1982 in Heidelberg, Germany) and Jan-Christoph Hartung (b. 1983 in Erbach, Germany) live and work as a photographer team in Berlin. They studied photography at the University of Applied Sciences Darmstadt and HAW Hamburg. Their works have been exhibited at C/O Berlin, the Deichtorhallen Hamburg, and the Rencontres Internationales de la Photographie Arles. In 2015, Hahn+ Hartung received the Lead Award (Gold) for Reportage Photography of the Year for their story „Vietnam War – 40 Years Later“, published in ZEITmagazin. In 2017, they were awarded a VG Bildkunst grant for their project „2 Minutes to Midnight“ on disaster preparedness in Germany, which received the Lotto Berlin-Brandenburg Art Prize in 2020. Their work includes among others critical perspectives on German expatriates at Lake Balaton and documenting natural disaster preparedness in Indonesia. Hahn+Hartung’s stories, prompting reflection on societal developments, have been featured in prominent magazines such as GEO, Stern, Le Monde, ZEITmagazin, SZ-Magazin, Dummy, and Spiegel.

Ioana Pascaru (b. 1994 in Suceava, Romania) worked closely as a co-author with Hahn+Hartung on the project „Gattenmörderinnen: Geschichten vom Überleben“ (Wives That Killed: Stories of Survival). Born in Romania, she moved to Germany at age eleven and later studied media psychology and marketing in Berlin, Barcelona, and Lüneburg. As the initiator and originator of the project, she was responsible for research, conducting interviews, translations, networking, and exhibition planning. Through her intensive and personal engagement with these women, she effectively brings their stories to the attention of a broader audience.

Hahn+Hartung, Romania 2022, from the series „Gattenmörderinnen: Geschichten vom Überleben“ @Hahn+Hartung

Hahn+Hartung, Moldova 2023, from the series „Gattenmörderinnen: Geschichten vom Überleben“ @Hahn+Hartung

Hahn+Hartung, Moldova 2022, from the series „Gattenmörderinnen: Geschichten vom Überleben“ @Hahn+Hartung

Hahn+Hartung, Romania 2022, from the series „Gattenmörderinnen: Geschichten vom Überleben“ @Hahn+Hartung

Hahn+Hartung, Moldova 2023, from the series „Gattenmörderinnen: Geschichten vom Überleben“ @Hahn+Hartung

Hahn+Hartung, Moldova 2022, from the series „Gattenmörderinnen: Geschichten vom Überleben“ @Hahn+Hartung

Hahn+Hartung, Berlin 2024, authors' photo, from left to right, Jan-Christoph Hartung, Ioana Pascariu and Miguel Hahn @Hahn+Hartung

DISCLAIMER:

A maximum of three images may be used once, free of charge, and only during the exhibition as well as three months prior. The images are intended exclusively for current press coverage and not for commercial purposes. They may not be shared with third parties, altered, or cropped. The correct captions, as well as the mention of the artists and the exhibition, are mandatory.